INJURED IN TERRIBLE TORNADO

Sixteen Persons May Die, Eight Hundred Homeless, Town Destroyed

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 26.—Sixteen persons were injured, one person fatally in a tornado, which destroyed a large part of the town of Centrahama, near here, today.

A child of Rev. E. J. Matthews is near death from his injuries. Mrs. Matthews and her four other children also were injured.

Lee Grist was badly bruised and his collar bone was broken. The others were not seriously hurt.

Not a building in the town remained wholly intact after the storm. Twelve buildings, including the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches, were totally wrecked. The town contains about 800 people. Many of these are homeless as a result of the storm. A terrific rain and hailstorm followed the tornado, greatly adding to the damage.

MORE CHAPLAINS NEEDED FOR UNITED STATES NAVY

New York, April 26.—More chaplains is one of the most pressing needs of the navy, according to the Rev. Dr. Charles N. Charlton, senior chaplain of the navy, who was the principal speaker tonight at the dinner of the Methodist social union.

"It was my greatest sorrow in connection with the great performance of our warships in the round-the-world cruise," he said, "that there were only five chaplains to take care of the spiritual needs of that immense fleet. For forty-nine years I have been trying without success to have the number of chaplains in the navy increased to more than twenty-four."

Servian Proverbs.

Some of the Servian proverbs are interesting. One is: "What is taken by force or unjustly is cursed." Others are as follows: "God does not settle his accounts with men every Saturday, but the day comes on which he settles them." "The devil never sleeps." "Where big bells ring the little bells are not heard." "Boast to a stranger, complain only to a friend." "If you wish to know what a man is, place him in authority." "Who readily lies readily steals." "In evil days the man shows what he is." Another of their sayings: "The fools build the houses, the wise men buy them when they are ready." "Who probably in this country be reversed."

A Bride's Little Scheme.

"Nearly all brides are getting soon on cut glass for wedding presents, because they always get so much more than they can ever use," remarked a jeweler recently, "but I never heard of one going so far to block the cut glass as a little bride that was in here the other day."

"She told me her name and asked me if I wouldn't keep my ears cocked for any customer who might come in to buy a wedding present and mention her name. My part of the game was to tell the customer that she had dropped a remark about not caring for cut glass. She said she had been to two other stores and fixed up the same deal with them."

Plain Herb Dressing.

Crumb stale bread to the amount of two quarts and toss it into a bowl. Add two tablespoonsful of salt, one teaspoon of pepper, two tablespoons powdered summer savory, two tablespoons finely minced parsley, one tablespoon of powdered sage. Do not use coarse herbs. Have some butter warm, but not melted to the point where it runs. Mix this lightly through the crumbs and fill the cavity of the turkey.

Officers Elaborately Entertained, Evans Receives Admiral Ijichi

Los Angeles, April 26.—The officers and men of Admiral Ijichi's squadron which arrived at San Pedro yesterday from Japan, were entertained today with a variety of functions and trips. Forty of the officers were taken on a half day's automobile ride. After a parade through the downtown streets a tour was made through suburban and seaside towns. At Velje special entertainment was held.

The officers were given an elaborate banquet in the club rooms of the Japanese association.

Hundreds of Japanese men and women surrounded the building early in the evening and gave a hearty welcome to the arriving officers.

The men given liberty today were entertained at the parks and other public places, mingling with their former countrymen, who are in the city in large numbers from outside points.

Visit With Rear Admiral Evans.

Rear Admiral Evans, who is on a training squadron now at San Pedro, learned today while in the hotel Alexandria that Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans was also a guest of the hotel.

The Japanese sent his card to Admiral Evans' room where he was once received. The visit of the two admirals, which lasted nearly half an hour, was the occasion of a remarkable discussion of international questions, including the subject of war between Japan and the United States.

The two aged officials are old friends, having met years ago, while Evans was in command of the Asiatic fleet. The two officers discussed the situation with the utmost freedom. Admiral Ijichi spoke English sufficiently well to carry on the conversation in that tongue. Both agreed that war between the United States and Japan is impossible.

"I see they have been trying to get us into trouble," remarked Admiral Evans.

"Yes," replied Admiral Ijichi, with a broad smile, "but such a thing is perfectly impossible. The United States and Japan understand each other too well for anything of that kind. The people of your country and mine have too deep-seated a friendship for each other to ever allow any trivial matter to bring about trouble."

"I agree with you," said Admiral Evans. "I saw that such a thought is ridiculous. Our friendship is of too long standing. No meddler can break it."

Just at this juncture a photographer appeared at the room and asked for a picture of the two admirals standing together.

"Well, just give them an illustration of war between the United States and Japan," said Admiral Evans to Admiral Ijichi, as he arose and asked the Japanese admiral what he thought about it. The latter laughed as he assented and the two noted sea-fighters stood side by side facing the camera while the photographer snapped the shutter.

Admiral Ijichi told Admiral Evans that he was delighted with his reception at Los Angeles. He commented upon the apparent friendliness of the officials as well as the press and public and predicted that his men would be equally well received at all American ports which they were to visit.

"I would like to know," inquired Admiral Evans, "how your people succeeded in raising the Russian ships which you sank and in what condition you found them?"

Admiral Ijichi replied: "We raised the sunken battleships and cruisers at Port Arthur and Chemulpo without any great difficulty. We found that those at Port Arthur were not sunk by the mortar fire directed upon them."

Law.

Of law there can be no less acknowledged than that her seat is the bosom of God, her voice the harmony of the world; all things in heaven and earth do her homage, the very least as feeling her care, and the greatest as not exempted from her power; both angels and men and creatures of what condition soever, though each in different sort and manner, yet all with uniform consent, admiring her as the mother of their peace and joy.—Richard Hooker.

Stuffed Baked Squash.

Cut a large Hubbard squash into halves and bake in a hot oven till the pulp is soft enough to remove with a spoon. Scrape it out, mix with a large cup of bread crumbs and plenty of salt and pepper, add a small cup of cream, heap the shell lightly, dot with butter and brown; serve in the half shell.—Harper's Bazar.

from 203 meter hill. None of the shells penetrated the protected decks, although the superstructure and gun mountings were badly shattered. The ships were sunk by the Russians by opening the sea-cocks when they found the port must fall in to seaward hands. After raising the ships we found that the projectiles had penetrated the wooden decks but had flattened out against the steel and were lying there. It evidently would not have been possible to sink the ships by the fire from the heights."

The admiral also described the condition of the Russian ships raised at Chemulpo.

Admiral Evans congratulated his guest upon his fortunate escape from death when the battleship Masaka, which he commanded was blown up in Yokohama following the war. Admiral Ijichi with Admiral Togo, whose flagship the Masaka, was ashore when the explosion occurred in which so many Japanese sailors lost their lives. The visit continued at length and various other topics were discussed.

Upon parting, standing on his crutches Admiral Evans wished the Japanese admiral a pleasant and satisfactory visit to all American ports.

INSISTED ON HOLE IN COFFIN.

Through It Col. Butler's Triumphant Pictorial Should Protrude.

Thomas Butler, a colonel in the army of the United States early in the nineteenth century, died in New Orleans in 1805 in the midst of his celebrated controversy with Gen. Wilkinson regarding the wearing of his queue.

Col. Butler insisted on wearing his hair in the old-fashioned style in disobedience to Wilkinson's orders. According to Pierce Butler in his biography of Judah P. Benjamin, while the dispute was still raging Butler died and left directions that a hole should be bored in the head of his coffin and that he should be borne to the grave with his triumphant pictorial protruding in defiance. The family tradition is that these directions were carried out.

Danger Will Still Be Braved.

A medical journal in issuing a warning against kissing tells of a young man who was inoculated with a serious illness by a friendly kiss from a young woman. He, in turn, kissed his fiancée, the journal in question neglecting to state whether she knew of the prior kiss. The fiancée kissed her friend, and everybody got sick. In another case a tuberculous young woman kissed her sweetheart, and both died within the year. But in spite of these awful warnings and advice about either non-communication or antiseptic osculation, kissing in the good old-fashioned way will continue popular.

Dog Shoots Man.

Dr. Vernon Paul, a young English medical man, was the victim of an extraordinary accident. He had been rabbit shooting with some friends; the sport over, the guns were placed, in a motor car in readiness for the return journey. The car was started and one of them was left loaded, and as Dr. Paul was taking his seat a dog jumped into the car and touched the trigger. The charge entered Dr. Paul's body, passing through the left lung and killing him instantly.

PROTECTIVE TARIFF IS UNFAIR

Taking From One Man to Give to Another Denounced by Bailey

Washington, April 26.—Denouncing the principle of a protective tariff as unfair in taking money from one man to give to another in order to encourage him in the pursuit of an otherwise unprofitable business, Senator Bailey of Texas, today delivered a set speech on the Democratic side in opposition to the pending tariff bill.

After he had proceeded without interruption for more than an hour, several senators engaged in colloquies with him.

Referring to Mr. Bailey's statement that the duties of the pending bill might be lowered 33 1/3 per cent, Mr. Aldrich asked him whether he supposed the profits of American industries equalled that amount. Mr. Bailey replied that in the case of the United States Steel corporation, he believed they had, and cited the increased evidence of enormous profit. He insisted that such a lowering of the rate of duty would not seriously affect importations because he believed American manufacturers would be stimulated by the added foreign competition and would continue to supply the markets.

Mr. Bailey discussed his amendment providing for an income tax, which was criticized by Mr. Aldrich as tending to reduce the protection for American labor if it should result in a proportionate decrease of customs duties.

Mr. Bailey favored restriction of immigration as a protection to American labor.

Mr. Aldrich retorted that while Mr. Bailey was ready to keep the foreign laborer from our shores, he was not adverse to allowing the product of this cheap labor to come in competition with the product of American workmen.

Mr. Bailey will resume tomorrow, when he will devote his attention to the purely legal aspect of an income tax law.

Would Not Have It Lessened.

Dr. Walter C. Smith, the popular Scotch poet-preacher, on one occasion tried to explain to an old lady the meaning of the scriptural expression, "Take up thy bed and walk," by saying that the bed was simply a mat or rug easily taken up and carried away. "No, no," replied the lady. "I cannot believe that. The bed was a regular four-poster. There would be no miracle in walking away with a bit of mat or rug on your back."

Costly Thermometer.

A thermometer can be bought for a quarter, but there is one used at the Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore known as Prof. Dowd's thermometer, which is valued at $10,000. The graduations on the glass are so fine that it requires a microscope to read them.

Home Influences.

A man can get awful morbid over the political depravity of the country if he doesn't like the coffee his wife gives him.

There is hardly an article in your house, the appearance of which will not be greatly improved if you will go over it four or five times a year with clean water and Ivory Soap.

This is particularly true of pianos, rugs, silverware and fine furniture.

Besieged Armenians Half Starving, Condition Within City Most Pitiful

Alexandretta, Asiatic Turkey, April 26.—Refugees escaping from Deurtyul, which is a small town not far from Alexandretta, bring most alarming accounts of the situation there. They affirm that 100,000 Armenians are besieged by 5,000 Moslems. The besieged are half starving and the conditions within the walls of the city are pitiful.

It is difficult for foreign residents here to credit those numbers. The foreign consuls estimate about 6,000 townspeople and refugees at Deurtyul, with perhaps as many more Turkish threatening them from the outside. It is certain that no Americans are there.

The commanders of the British and other warships at this port have had under consideration the landing of a force to relieve the besieged town, which is within one day's march of Alexandretta, but they finally decided that this was wholly impracticable as they had no right to interfere in a purely internal affair and the government declined to permit the landing of an armed force.

If relieving forces were sent out in opposition to the governor's wishes, it was recognized that such an expedition would be equivalent to a declaration of war and in addition the largest commands that the warships could muster would stand in great danger of being overwhelmed if they attempted to force their way against such immense odds.

TOWN OF HADJINI IS REPORTED IN FLAMES

Beirut, April 26.—The town of Hadjini, about 100 miles to the north of Alexandretta, where the residents have withstood the assaults of the fanatics for the past several weeks in flames yesterday. According to reports received here today several of the victims escaped and up to midnight Sunday all the Americans were safe. At this place there are five American women missionaries.

Latakia in Syria, has been relieved, thanks to the efforts of American consular-general at Beirut, Gabriel B. Ravnal, who secured the co-operation of the French cruiser Jules Ferry, which arrived at Latakia yesterday.

Thousands of refugees have been pouring into Latakia and the presence of the French warship there will have much influence in controlling the situation. The refugees are mostly women and children, many of the male members of the families having been killed.

The consul-general has also succeeded in inducing the local authorities to take measures for the relief of the people and they are responding sympathetically and energetically.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; unless cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.
